

The cloth covering each heating element is made using a material called Electrolytic Iron.

